Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 125-133, 161, 162, 164-166, 170, 172, 173, 175, 176, 197-200, 211, and 257-259 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The present invention is directed to a touch input system using a receiving stylus. Each independent claim identifies the uniquely distinct features steps of operation including applying a zero voltage to the voltage divider, applying a gradient voltage to the voltage divider and applying a constant voltage to the voltage divider. The closest prior art, Kable (USPN: 4678869) and Proctor et al. (USPN: 3304612) disclose arrangements of voltage dividers and finger protrusions to produce a voltage gradient area between the fingers, either singularly or in combination, fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
